Omaha Cultivates the Great Trans-Continental Freight.

OMAHA, January 31.—There were recorded at this place today deeds of lands from the city of Omaha to the Union Pacific Railroad company, which had been purchased by the city at a cost of two hundred thousand dollars, and which, in addition to two hundred and thirty thousand dollars, have been delivered to the railroad company. The company, in consideration from that company, has been made up of the deed to the effect that it will construct and maintain a railroad bridge over the Missouri river at Omaha, and that the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific railroad will be and remain at Omaha, and that all transfers of freight, passenger, baggage, mail, express matter east and west, shall after the completion of the bridge be made upon the ground donated by this city, and that the Union Pacific company, within one year, expend on the depot building, upon these grounds, not less than $100,000; all machine and car shops and general offices of the company are to remain at Omaha. This is settled question about the bridge, and so much discussion for the last two years. Nine of the spans of the bridge are already completed and the two are in progress and will probably be completed by the first of March next so that trains will pass over the bridge.

Three eastward trains on the Pacific arrived at Cheyenne during the night. Some of the passengers, who claim to have been sixteen days on the road from Ogden, report that when they got there, the wind blew from the west and the snow lay on the cuts and filled the tracks. The trains were delayed for several days, and the passengers were not able to get as far as Cheyenne as they planned.
